Sustainability

Our certificates

IVN BEST

The “NATURTEXTIL IVN zertifiziert BEST” – IVN BEST – quality symbol is awarded to textiles that are made completely from organically produced natural fibres. The certification takes into account all the environmental effects of the entire production process, from extraction of the fibres to the finished garment, along with the prescribed social welfare standards in the companies involved in the process.

In terms of environmental compatibility, social sustainability and credibility, IVN BEST meets the highest ecological standards that can currently be achieved in the textile industry.

GOTS

Textiles that are made from at least 70% to 100% organically produced natural fibres are eligible for the award of the Global Organic Textile Standard (GOTS). Certification of products is based on fulfilment of environmental requirements along the entire textile production chain plus compliance with social welfare criteria. The GOTS standards are slightly below the IVN BEST standards.

WIR FÜHREN PRODUKTE MIT DEM SIEBEL:

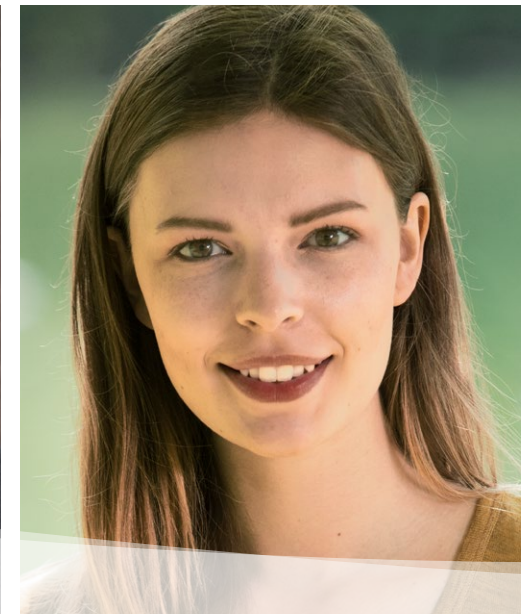

Grüner Knopf

The “Grüner Knopf” is a German government textile seal; in terms of product criteria, it builds on existing certifications, such as GOTS or IVN BEST. Unlike IVN BEST and GOTS, it does not take account of all production stages along the entire textile production chain.

In contrast to other certifications, however, the “Grüner Knopf” scheme lays down corporate due diligence obligations, i.e. certified companies must take social responsibility by being aware of the risks to human rights in their supplier companies, reporting on them – and eliminating them.

Dear friends of ENGEL!

We are happy to present you our new catalogue this year in a new, overworked, design! From now on, you will see pictures all articles clearly arranged complemented with some beautiful pictures taken in nature.

We developed some great novelties for you. Made of our fine and soft merino wool, we offer two new colours – a classic slate and the fashionable saffron mélange.

There is something completely new and special made of wool/silk – a gorgeous series in the colour navy-blue with a playful, lovely lace. These articles are completed by our basics in wool/silk in the colour navy-blue.

This pleasant, classic colour is now also available for men and – made of 100% merino wool – we offer the colour slate for men, too.

Another novelty awaits you in the wool fleece department – by popular demand, we added a zippered sweater in the colour atlantic mélange for men and women to our range. For women, there will be a new, trendy colour called terracotta mélange for jackets and waistcoats – so you will not get cold this autumn!

There are also new accessories. Finally, there will be a loop scarf made of wool/silk for adults – available in the three popular colours navy-blue, walnut and mauve.

For cosy hours on the couch, we present our new, big wool fleece-blanket in light grey mélange, which offers a lot of space to cuddle with 150 x 180 cm.

As usual, all ENGEL-articles are directly available from stock.

We hope you are as inspired as we are by the new products and the new catalogue design.

Reservation of Proprietary Rights

1. The goods shall remain the property of the seller until full payment of all receivables for the delivery of goods arising from the business relationship, including ancillary claims, damages as well as payment of cheques and bills of exchange. The right of retention of title shall remain even if individual claims by the seller are included in a current invoice and the balance is drawn and recognised.

2. If a centralised authority is invoked in the business between the seller and purchaser, which assumes the risk guarantee, the seller shall transfer ownership on dispatch of the goods to the central authority subject to the condition of payment of the purchase price by the central authority. The purchaser will only be released from their payment obligation upon payment by the central authority.

3. If the value of the existing security provided for the seller exceeds the total amount of the seller's claims by more than 10 %, then the seller shall be obligated at the purchaser's request, to release securities at his discretion.

4. Pledging or transferring ownership of the goods by way of security or the assigned claims is inadmissible. The seller is to be informed immediately of seizures, stating the garnishment creditor.

5. If the seller, in the exercise of its retention of title requests the delivery item back, this shall not automatically be deemed a withdrawal from the contract. The seller is free to sell the returned goods subject to the retention of title by private sale.

6. The purchaser shall store the goods under retention of title for the seller free of charge. He shall insure them against standard risks, such as fire, theft and water within the usual scope. The purchaser hereby assigns his claims to the seller for damages that he would be entitled to from the above risks with respect to insurance companies or other obligated parties at the invoiced amount of the goods. The seller accepts the assignment.

7. All claims and rights arising from the retention of title of all special forms defined in these conditions shall remain until there is a complete release from contingent liabilities (check-bill of exchange) that the seller has incurred in the interest of the purchaser. The purchaser is in the case of sentence 1 as a matter of principle allowed to carry out factoring for his accounts receivables. However, he must inform the seller before incurring contingent liabilities.
