Materials

Raw materials for our textiles

For our clothes we use the following raw materials: organic cotton, organic Merino virgin wool and the especially proven blend of Merino virgin wool and silk.

Cotton – soft and hard-wearing.

Merino virgin wool – to feel wool means to feel well.

Sustainability

Our certificates

IVN BEST

The "NATURTEXTIL IVN zertifiziert BEST" – IVN BEST - quality symbol is awarded to textiles that are made completely from organically produced natural fibres. The certification takes into account all the environmental effects of the entire production process, from extraction of the fibres to the finished garment, along with the prescribed social welfare standards in the companies involved in the process.

In terms of environmental compatibility, social sustainability and credibility, IVN BEST meets the highest ecological standards that can currently be achieved in the textile industry.

GOTS

Textiles that are made from at least 70% to 100% organically produced natural fibres are eligible for the award of the Global Organic Textile Standard (GOTS). Certification of products is based on fulfilment of environmental requirements along the entire textile production chain plus compliance with social welfare criteria. The GOTS standards are slightly below the IVN BEST standards.

Grüner Knopf

The "Grüner Knopf" is a German government textile seal; in terms of product criteria, it builds on existing certifications, such as GOTS or IVN BEST. Unlike IVN BEST and GOTS, it does not take account of all production stages along the entire textile production chain.

In contrast to other certifications, however, the "Grüner Knopf" scheme lays down corporate due diligence obligations, i.e. certified companies must take social responsibility by being aware of the risks to human rights in their supplier companies, reporting on them – and eliminating them.

Dear friends of ENGEL!

It is summer – that means, the new ENGEL-catalogue is here! This time not only full of beautiful novelties, but it has also gotten a new design.

The new catalogue has isolated images of all articles, but is still appealing in our ENGEL-style you are used to. We hope you like it just as much as we do.

A whole new series with new colours and styles is available for the smallest ones in wool/silk – cute and lovely articles like summer shorts, bodies with skirts and a baby playsuit in the two colours glacier/walnut and salmon/walnut set the mood for spring and summer.

Our popular series with dots have new members in the family – there is now also a chic overall, a sweater with layered look and practical reversible pants.

The most spectacular novelty is certainly our new quality. Beginning from autumn, we offer two selected articles made of boiled wool! There will be a jacket in the three beautiful colours jade mélange, magma mélange and lava mélange with a zipper and hood and an overall in the same three colours, also zippered and hooded. Boiled wool keeps away wind and weather, is hardwearing and is always part of the fun in autumn and winter!

We also have something new for the breastfeeding Moms, a nursing top made of cotton in black and two nursing tops made of wool/silk in light grey mélange and black ensure discreet breastfeeding and look nice as well.

Our new sleeping bags contribute to a calm baby-sleep – choose from three models, wool-terry or wool fleece, with or without sleeves, there is something for every season and every child.

Now we do not want to keep you back – have a look at our novelties and the new catalogue. Enjoy!

As usual, all ENGEL-articles are directly available from stock.

According to the standard conditions of the German Textile Industry, we are entitled to repair. Repairs mostly are not cheaper than a replacement, but ecologically worthwhile.

Reservation of Proprietary Rights
1. The goods shall remain the property of the seller until full payment of all receivables for the delivery of goods arising from the business relationship, including ancillary claims, damages as well as payment of cheques and bills of exchange. The right of retention of title shall remain even if individual claims by the seller are included in a current invoice and the balance is drawn and recognised.

2. If a centralised authority is invoked in the business between the seller and purchaser, which assumes the risk guarantee, the seller shall transfer ownership on dispatch of the goods to the central authority subject to the condition of payment of the purchase price by the central authority. The purchaser will only be released from their payment obligation upon payment by the central authority.

3. If the value of the existing security provided for the seller exceeds the total amount of the seller’s claims by more than 10 %, then the seller shall be obligated at the purchaser’s request, to release securities at his discretion.

4. Pledging or transferring ownership of the goods by way of security or the assigned claims is inadmissible. The seller is to be informed immediately of seizures, stating the garnishment creditor.

5. If the seller, in the exercise of its retention of title requests the delivery item back, this shall not automatically be deemed a withdrawal from the contract. The seller is free to sell the returned goods subject to the retention of title by private sale.

6. The purchaser shall store the goods under retention of title for the seller free of charge. He shall insure them against standard risks, such as fire, theft and water within the usual scope. The purchaser hereby assigns his claims to the seller for damages that he would be entitled to from the above risks with respect to insurance companies or other obligated parties at the invoiced amount of the goods. The seller accepts the assignment.

7. All claims and rights arising from the retention of title of all special forms defined in these conditions shall remain until there is a complete release from contingent liabilities (check-bill of exchange) that the seller has incurred in the interest of the purchaser. The purchaser is in the case of sentence 1 as a matter of principle allowed to carry out factoring for his accounts receivables. However, he must inform the seller before incurring contingent liabilities.
