feel good <sup>by</sup> nature

The world is a magical place for a big adventure: Life. There is something new for our little heroes to discover, learn and experience every day. With unbridled curiosity and innate optimism, they set off – or crawl – to make their own experiences and grow from them. For the adults, time for family, work and leisure are sources of joy, but also real challenges.

Engel has set itself the goal of giving these everyday adventurers a great deal of physical and emotional security. Because those who feel safe and protected rise above themselves.

Healthy, practical and high-quality feel-good clothing with a great look and from sustainable sources makes life's adventures even more enjoyable.

hightech by nature

We think children should be allowed to jump around. Regardless of the weather or the time they spend doing it.

The exclusive, animal-friendly and sustainably sourced merino wool has superpowers. These are put to even more ideal use in a unique mix of wool and silk. The natural qualities that make the sheep in the uplands of Patagonia so resistant are:

The temperature-balancing effect:

Incredibly soft, fine wool that makes the merino sheep so famously resistant. Their habitat can be subject to dramatic sudden changes in the weather, but it does not affect the merino sheep, with their wonderful wool: The finely curled wool fibres are particularly effective at storing the body's natural warmth; and when the weather is warmer, the fibres can absorb moisture from the body and take it to the outside, creating a cooling effect. Thanks to its very fine fibres, the wool always feels pleasant against the skin, and even people who are sensitive to wool like to cuddle up in it. Our wool is mulesing-free, and the wool-silk mix not only makes it more comfortable to wear, but also supports the temperature-balancing effect. So it's a naturally high-tech fibre blend that's ideal for any requirement. And any weather.

Uncomplicated and easy-care:

Children's clothes can take a beating. They must be stable, flexible and pleasant to wear. But they also need to be easy to care for. Merino wool fibres, with or without silk, achieve this effortlessly thanks to their extremely finely curled, one could say, "high-tech" fibre structures. The fine structure also creates the typical, pleasant feeling against the skin, and the silk gives extra comfort.

Dirt particles cannot easily stick onto the fibre surface, and so the wool is described as dirt-repellent. Usually, the garment merely needs to be aired and brushed to remove any dry dirt. So less washing – and water – is required.

Local, sustainable and fair production.

Our wonderful merino wool comes from sheep that live in the wild in South America. Once the yarn has arrived here, everything is processed in Pfullingen and the nearby Swabian Alb by specialised small businesses. This is important to us, because we want to have a friendly, fair relationship with all the people who are involved in the creation of our clothing. This is also sustainable.

Naturally mulesing-free.
Because our sheep live in Patagonia. The flies that are the justification for the highly controversial practice of mulesing, do not even exist there.

Quality, the earth and humans in harmony.

Engel is a family firm that puts your needs and those of our planet at the centre. Let our passion for quality and sustainability inspire you, and become part of our community.

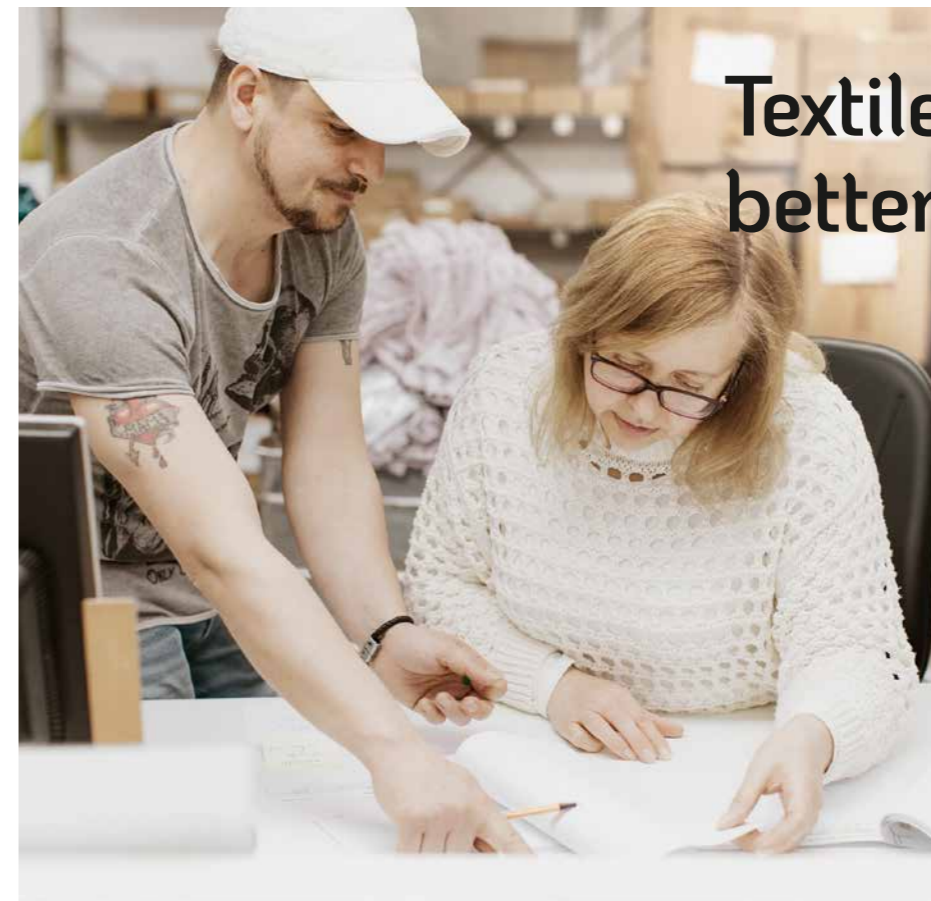

For over 90 years, we work exclusively with high-quality controlled materials that are good for you and for our planet. Here, the quality (of life) is right.

Textiles for a better tomorrow.

As people who know each other personally, we produce socially, integrative and at the highest level.

We love the results which we achieve as a team – from the designer to the sewer, from the purchasing manager to the storekeeper. When real men sew on buttons and clever women plan favourite items and everything runs smoothly, it's more than just a job for us. We are committed to short pathways, fair working conditions and outstanding quality. This is how textile production works in Germany today!

The Schönberg Tower, the landmark of our home town of Pfullingen, is affectionately called the "Pfullingen Underpants" by the locals. Can this be a coincidence?

Things you can rely on.

Summer and winter all-rounders

Merino wool has a temperature-regulating effect, making it feel even more comfortable. The curled fibres create little hollow spaces, known as climate chambers, in which the air can circulate. They can store body warmth in cold weather and take it away when it's hot. So heat can never build up.

Environmentally friendly treatment

We only use environmentally friendly, strictly verified, certified substances for knitting the yarn and finishing the fabric, in other words, for the further processing of the materials. From non-polluting detergents to long-lasting reactive dyes: the fewer chemicals the better.

Organic merino wool from Patagonia

We visit our shepherds as often as we can. Because we care about the origins of our products and the quality of life of the animals. The controversial mulesing procedure does not exist in Argentina and the sheep live in animal-friendly conditions.

Sewn in Pfullingen

The sewers work on our own premises and in small firms with whom we are friendly. Fair wages and longstanding working relationships are worth investing in. We preserve traditions that are centuries old in our region and show that textiles can be commercially produced in Germany.

Made with passion

From the first draft when we take our drawings over into the production stage and start mixing dyes to the final finishing touch, when the last button is sewn on – we live for what we do. And nothing is too much effort for us. Although we have to admit: It's great fun too!

Clothes also need to withstand a baby's urge to explore. So that babies can reach and stretch, practice gripping and do yoga like world champions – and stay cosily warm and safe too. That's what makes us get up in the morning.

Merino wool and silk have natural superpowers that our careful processing makes even more effective: The wool, for example, takes moisture away from baby's skin if it feels too warm, so the body temperature remains ideal. At the same time, fine fibre structures store body's own warmth to ensure maximum cosiness. And obviously, babies get dirty sometimes, which isn't a problem: Wool is naturally dirt-repellent, and often a good airing and light brushing is all you need. With UV protection of 30 – 50, wool and silk are absolutely ideal for providing natural sun protection. So no worries all round!

A particularly sensitive topic.

Our unique merino wool and silk blend also shows its strengths in breastfeeding products. They are particularly soft and kind to the skin. In the double-sided version, the wool side is suitable for warming and absorbing liquid, while the silk has a wound-healing effect and is gentle on stressed skin.

The soft, fluffy woollen terry with its temperature-regulating properties ensures a balanced and pleasant sleeping climate for the little ones.

child's play

by nature

Whether they're racing through the garden or whispering in a secret tree house, spotting animals in the clouds or running recklessly through the fields: Whatever they're doing, children need to feel good in Engel clothing.

The natural properties of our clothing protect you from overheating and cooling down, so you don't need to worry about anything. The children are well dressed and the washing machine can stay empty now and again. It is often enough to simply air their clothes after a successful day full of adventures. Because dirt and bacteria find it hard to adhere to the wool fibres. So you just need to brush off the jacket and it's ready for the next use.

Last but not least, the beautiful colours and timeless designs look really good on the little ones. Dressed like this, nothing stands in the way of further conquests through the neighbourhood.

The natural superpower of wool and silk as a T-shirt – absorbs moisture without feeling wet and protects against UV radiation.

by
nature

Our sewing experts at the foot of the Swabian Alb work in the best conditions – for themselves and for our products. That way, we can guarantee good wages, healthy working hours and superb clothing.

We work hand in hand and across generations with our local sewing, finishing and processing companies. The magic formula is simple: As people, we work with people and that's how we also operate. We ensure a highly motivated, professional and consistent supply chain. This results in the best quality and sustainable fabrics. Short transport routes and a flexible network even make production in Germany economical.

The core message behind our natural clothing is a simple promise, and we stick to it: Good clothes for a positive life – for the customers as well as for the makers.

Environmentally conscious but stylish – our lace top combines elegant design meets sustainability. For a fashionable appearance.

by nature

For us, top quality means that all the fibres are dyed and processed in such a way that their natural, wonderful properties are retained as far as possible. Truly sustainable production starts with our healthy and caring treatment of the sheep.

We make sure that the highest quality standards are upheld at every stage of production. The entire production chain is transparent and we have our guarantee claims regularly verified by independent bodies. The most important factor for our clothing that we have ensured that production is consistently sustainable, fair and healthy for over 40 years. Because you deserve it!

Simple and timeless – the perfect basic tank top for any occasion.

by
nature

You prefer a timeless style and don't feel like chasing after every other fashion trend. We feel the same! This is why we go for designs that will really go with any outfit, in soft colours and with clear lines.

Does beautiful fashion have to go in the bin twice a year? We think: No way!

We produce truly natural garments and applied the slow fashion approach long before it became a trend. This is much more sustainable than constantly reinventing yourself. Timeless fashion saves resources and is much cooler, we think. Once someone has found their casual look, with their favourite basics and subtle details, which is also warm, comfortable and easy-care, why do you need to look any further? Exactly. So we prefer clothing for life. And by the way: Good materials can also be repaired.

Material

Our items can be machine washed on the wool setting. This is thanks to the award-winning finish Naturetexx®, which uses no harmful or toxic chemicals whatsoever. The natural properties of the fibres are retained.

As ever, our wool consists of 100% organic merino wool.

Certificates and seals

Made in Germany

We produce our clothing exclusively in Germany in accordance with the highest ecological and social criteria.

Naturally, we obtain our electricity from renewable sources. We have solar panels on the roof and the rest of the power we need is hydroelectric power. And we don't use fossil fuels for heating.

Availability

Because our designs are timeless and our production chain is so reliable, retailers can order and receive deliveries of all articles from stock all year round.

IVN BEST (Lic. no. IVN BEST: 151702)

The "NATURTEXTIL IVN zertifiziert BEST" (IVN BEST) quality symbol is awarded to textiles that are made completely from organically produced natural fibres.

The certification takes into account all the environmental effects of the entire production process, from production of the fibres to the finished garment, along with the prescribed social welfare standards in the companies involved in the process.

In terms of environmental compatibility, social sustainability and credibility, IVN BEST meets the highest ecological standards that can currently be achieved in the textile industry.

GOTS (Lic. no. GOTS: 151702)

Textiles that are made from at least 70% to 100% organically produced natural fibres are eligible for the award of the Global Organic Textile Standard (GOTS). Certification of products is based on fulfilment of environmental requirements along the entire textile production chain plus compliance with social welfare criteria. The GOTS requirements are slightly below those of IVN BEST.

What do babies, children and adults have in common when it comes to feeling good? Exactly, the clothes have to fit.

At Engel, we attach great importance to good cuts that combine maximum freedom of movement, climate zones and visually appealing shapes. Engel clothing moulds to the body and is designed for freedom of movement.

Of course, the size must also be chosen correctly. To make ordering as accurate as possible, we make every effort to keep the sizes constant and comparable. In this table you can compare both the German sizes and the corresponding international age specifications.
